More about the Launch from [insert your name]...

I'm very pleased that you came to check out the launch of [your membership name] and look forward to having you on board.

We've put together a unique membership that offers your customers:

This product is the result of:

[Talk about your experience or what you've done to put the membership together. Leverage your own experience or credibility or those of your expert guests, etc. Or just say why you created the product. What need do you see in the marketplace?]

It would be my pleasure to have you share this charter member opportunity with your customers. They'll be able to get in at over [XX%] off of the regular price and will be grandfathered at that low rate for as long as they stay members...and that means long term recurring commissions for you!
